Beautiful villa for two at The Brando

For the film buffs ...
THE BRANDO, FRENCH POLYNESIA
 Lusting after a picturesque escape in the tropics, but don't know where exactly to go? Head to The Brando. Spearheaded and managed by Tumi Brando, the hotel takes in the lush atoll of Tetiaroa Island, a 20-minute plane ride away from Tahiti, owned by her late grandfather and Hollywood hero, Marlon. The land captured the heart of the legendary actor while he was filming Mutiny on the Bounty, and he proceeded to buy it to commemorate his burgeoning relationship with co-star Tarita Teriipaia. Relive their story with your stay, and extend the love beyond romance with the resort's eco-friendly activities such as biologist of the day excursions and tours of Tetiaroa. www.thebrando.com
